UNIFORM CRIME REPORTS

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Bureau of Investigation

United States Department of Justice

Washington, D. C.

Volume 2

March, 1931

Number 3

Contents of the March Bulletin.

The Bulletin for March contains a tabulation showing the number of offenses known to the police as reported to the Bureau of Investigation by contributing police departments of the country for that month.

The above tabulation is designated Table I and is limited to those figures which are received from police departments in cities, towns, and villages, as distinguished from the returns submitted by county sheriffs, State police, and officers in a similar status. These latter figures represent the returns received from county and other jurisdictions, including the possessions, and are published in Table I-A.

The term "Offenses known to the police" is designed to include those crimes designated as Part I classes of the Uniform Classification, occurring within the police jurisdiction, whether they become known to the police through reports of police officers, of citizens, of prosecuting or court officials, or otherwise. They are confined to the following group of seven classes of grave offenses, shown by experience to be those most generally and completely reported to the police: Felonious homicide, including (a) murder, nonnegligent manslaughter, and (b) manslaughter by negligence; rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary—breaking or entering; larceny—theft, including (a) thefts of $50 and over, and (b) thefts of under $50; and auto theft.

"Offenses known to the police" include, therefore, all of the above offenses which are reported by the police departments of contributing cities, and not merely arrests or cleared cases.

A table is also shown indicating the extent of the population area represented by contributing cities, exclusive of county and other returns. In addition the number of current and supplementary returns received by States during the current year are published separately, while the average daily number of offenses, and the per cent of each offense class to the whole number reported, as reflected by the figures received, are also shown.

Considerable Expansion Noted in March.

During the current year 1,227 cities have furnished the Bureau of Investigation with monthly returns on offenses known to the police. Approximately 1,000 cities have contributed the figures for each of the three months of 1931, but the figure 1,227 represents the number of departments from which returns were received for any one month. The population represented by these cities is estimated to be 47,135,301.

For the month of March 1,140 cities contributed returns reflecting the number of offenses known of the designated classes which were reported to the police departments of those cities. Current returns were also received from a number of counties in various States, State police, the first and third Divisions of Alaska, the Canal Zone, and Porto Rico. In addition to the above, figures were received for previous months of 1930 and 1931 from Baguio and Manila in the Philippines, and from two counties in Honolulu.

In the following table are shown the number and per cent of the cities and the number and per cent of the population of those cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants from which returns have been received for any one month of 1931. The figures are based on the 1930 census. In addition to those listed in the table there are 543 cities of an aggregate population of 2,985,403 which also have contributed returns during the current year. The population represented by the returns from counties and others is not included in this table.

Population groups	Total number of cities or towns	Cities filing returns		Total population	Population represented in returns
		Number	Per cent		Number	Per cent

E. Cities 10,000 to 25,000.....	606	372	61	9,007,200	4,812,648	54

The above table does not include 543 cities of a population less than 10,000 aggregating a total of 2,985,403 from which returns were received for 1931.

Number of Contributing Cities Increases Substantially.

Returns for the month of March were received from 1,140 cities which represents an increase of 64 over the number of current returns published in the February bulletin. Among this number contributing for March were 45 cities from which returns of offenses known to the police had not been received previously. It is interesting to note that for the month of March, 1930, returns were published for 541 cities. The increase over that number for March, 1931, is 599.

In the table which follows are shown the number of returns by States received and published currently during 1931.

New Contributors Urged to Submit Supplementaries.

Cities which began contributing returns on crime statistics to the Bureau of Investigation in March are requested to furnish the figures for January and February, if possible. Likewise, the cities which have omitted any one of the three months of the current year are urged to furnish the figures if they are available. In this manner the reporting area established may be maintained.

In the table which follows the total number of returns received and published, including supplementaries for the current year, are shown. Supplementary returns are those which have been received for previous months since the last issue of the bulletin.

Percentage Table of Part I Offenses.

The monthly per cent of each offense class to the whole for the last six months of 1930, and for the first quarter of 1931, is shown in the following table. The figures are based on the total number of offenses reported by all contributing cities, exclusive of defective and incomplete returns.

Average Daily Offenses.

The daily averages of the number of offenses known of the designated classes, as reflected in the following table, are based upon the figures submitted by 1,075 cities which contributed both in February and March, exclusive of incomplete and patently defective returns. Due allowance was made for the variance in the number of days in each of the foregoing months.

Daily average 1,075 miscellaneous cities

	Total	Felonious homicide		Rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Burglary— Breaking or entering	Larceny— theft		Auto theft
		Murder, nonnegligent manslaughter	Man-slaughter by negligence					$50 and over	Under $50

March, 1931.....	1,617.1	8.3	6.9	6.3	89.4	54.7	349.1	127.5	584.6	391.3

The next table of daily averages is based upon figures submitted by 77 cities each of a population of 100,000 or more, which contributed returns both in February and March. Incomplete and defective returns are excluded.

Daily average 77 cities 100,000 population and over.

	Total	Felonious homicide		Rape	Robbery	Aggravated assault	Burglary— Breaking or entering	Larceny— theft		Auto theft

Monthly Figures Based on Offenses Known.

The attention of contributing officials is invited to the fact that the figures compiled, according to the Uniform Classification of Offenses are based upon the number of offenses reported to the respective police officers as distinguished from the number of arrests made. For example, if a report is received that a robbery has occurred and two individuals are taken into custody and charged with the crime, only one offense is recorded. Similarly, if a police department receives complaints to the effect that two offenses of robbery have been committed and one person is taken into custody and charged with the crimes, two cases of robbery should be recorded in the monthly return.

The above comment should not be construed to mean, however, that only those offenses wherein arrests are made should be recorded. If a report is received to the effect that any one of the crimes listed on the monthly Return A has been committed, it should be recorded if investigation proves that the report was not unfounded. In other words, it is immaterial whether an arrest has been made when a report has been received to the effect that one of the offenses of the designated classes has been committed. In each instance a record thereof should be made on the monthly return.
